Dedication

For their never tiring vigilant guidance, and for their humane, wholesome and understanding interest in our personal problems encountered in the production of our yearbook, we, proudly and with great pleasure, dedicate this 1964-65 issue of our book - THE HORNETTE - to our sponsors, Mrs. Maggie L. Cornelius and Mrs. Rose M. McKinney.

May this dedication encourage them to continue to serve and inspire students to develop to their maximum capacities in order that they may contribute fully to the welfare of human beings through the duty of service.

Foreword

A high school yearbook seeks to capture the spirit which animates life on the campus. It strives to portray in as concrete a form as possible those events and mountain-top experiences which occur on campus and which become the common treasure of those who come under the influence of the school.

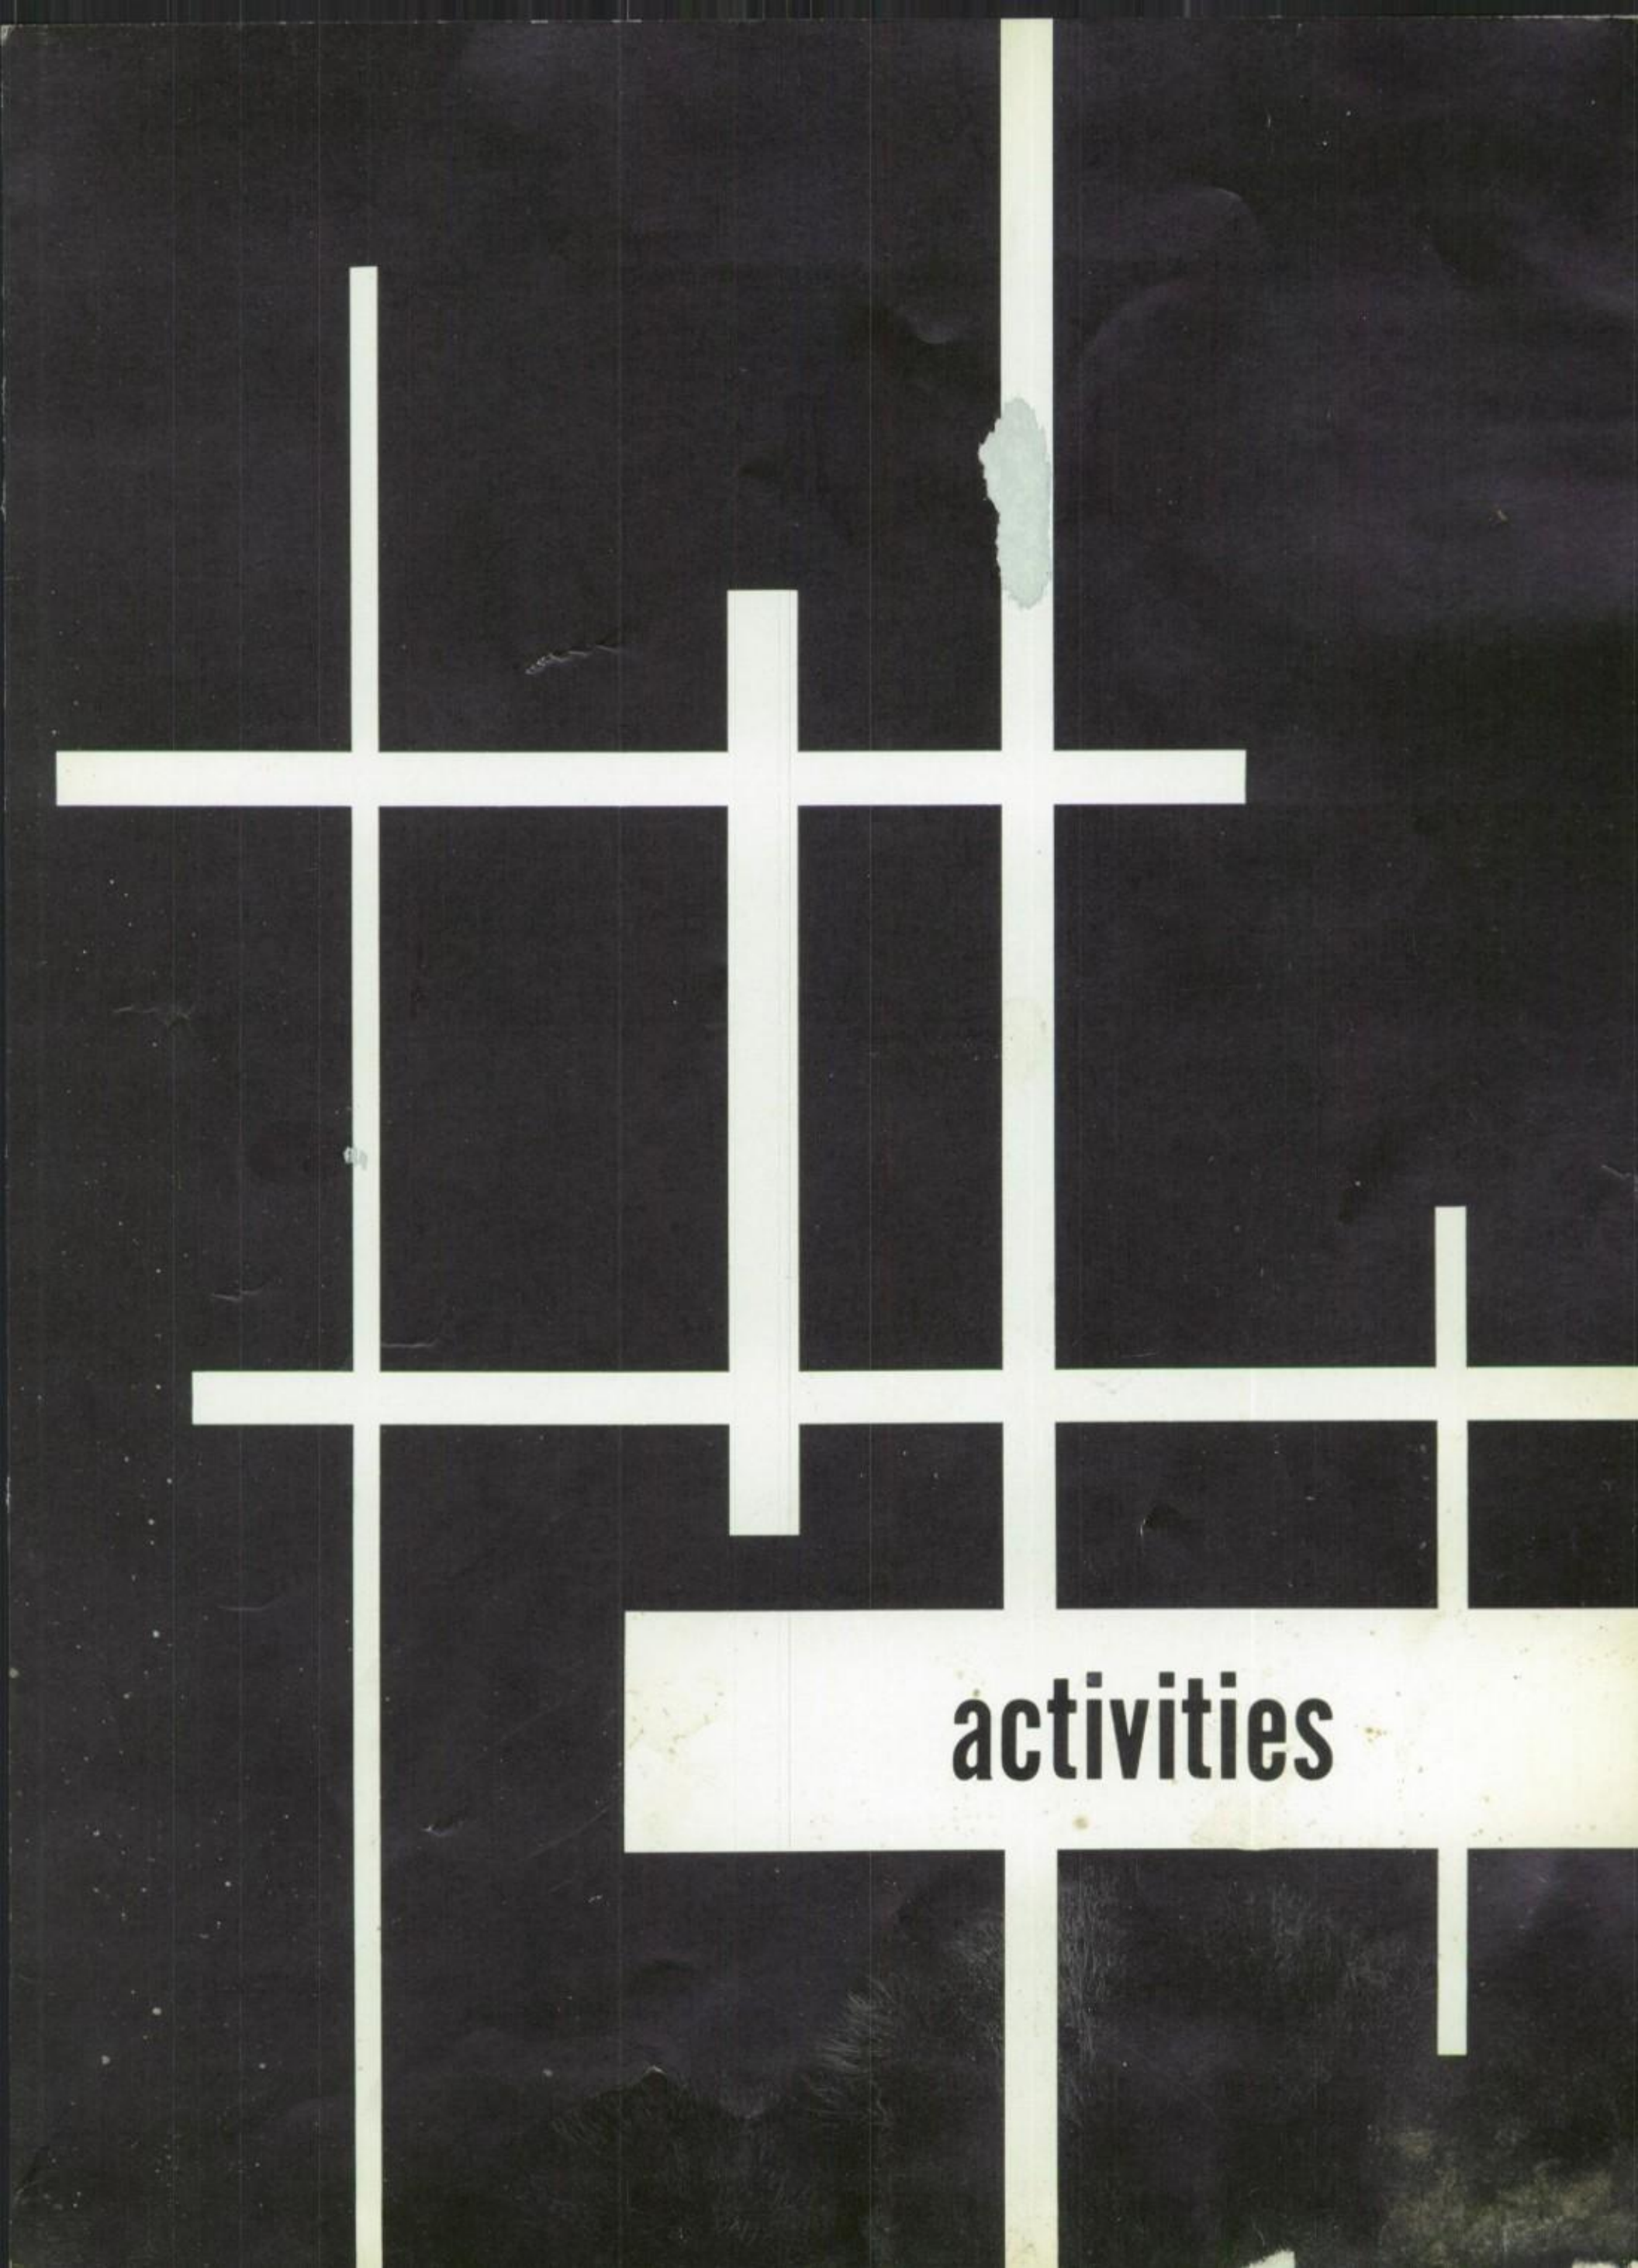

This book, THE HORNETTE, purports to reflect the glorious activities of a glorious institution, Carver Junior Senior High School and its family -- students, teachers, administrators, and workers -- for the school year 1964-65.

The material is authentic and depicts our hopes, our joys, and our sorrows. It reveals us as we are and as we would have you see us.

In years to come, may we with you look back on its pages and recall sweet memories of our high school days.

To you -- may our appreciation and gratitude ripen into a thing of beauty.

An abstract geometric design featuring a dark, textured background. Overlaid on this background are several thick, white, rectangular lines that intersect to form a grid-like structure. The lines vary in length and position, creating a sense of depth and movement. The word "activities" is printed in a bold, black, sans-serif font on a white rectangular background that is part of the grid structure, located in the lower right quadrant of the image.

Student Government Day

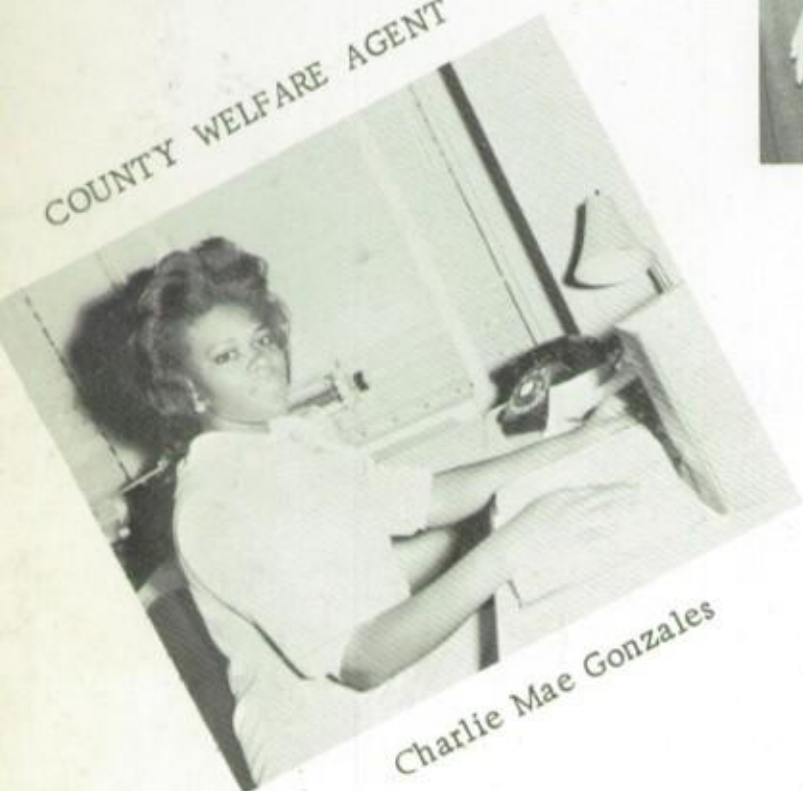

Carver students participated in the city-wide "Student Government Day" sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Each student served as a city or county official, going through the regular routine of a day's work. Youth participation in the affairs of city and county government gave these students information and insight on the problems and procedures of elected and appointed officers in a democratic society.

Superintendent of Schools

"The student of today is fortunate indeed. He lives in a most exciting time with the broad spectrum of change ever presenting new challenges and new opportunities. In his dedication to hard work and to an unshakable faith in the future, lies the hope of our free society. It is here in his school career that the society of tomorrow begins to take shape; here that the spark, the strength, the character of our democracy is generated."

Dr. Harold H. Hitt

Board of Trustees

The Board of Trustees of the Midland Public Schools is made up of the superintendent and seven members elected by their fellow citizens. The inexhaustible efforts of these men are reflected in the progress of our schools.

Principal's Message

"You are in school for the purpose of preparing yourselves for that trip through life. Have you ever asked yourself, "What is the value of these courses I am taking? How will these facts, figures and precepts which I am learning benefit me? Why am I taking this subject or that one?"

Courses of study are laid out for you by wise educators with the purpose of preparing you for your journey through life. But no matter how wise the curriculum is and no matter how carefully its members study and plan to give you the most and the best, it is impossible for them to know and put into those courses everything you will have to learn in order to have a successful journey through life. You will have to add many of the essentials.

I suggest that you adopt a hero for your own personal study. Find out how he prepared for his journey through life and what his daily habits were. Learn how successful men have achieved -- know the road they traveled and observe the persistency that made them successful. One thing you may find out about all of them: THEY DID NOT FOLLOW THE CROWD. EVERY MAN IS THE ARCHITECT OF HIS OWN CAREER.

The principal, faculty and student body are grateful to all of our friends who are included on our patron list and the advertising section.

Congratulations to the Journalism Department, the Librarian and all of the personnel who labored so diligently in producing this annual. "

Assistant Principal's Message

"I take great pride in stating that Carver is an exceptional center of education for children.

We feel that the basic function of education is to provide for the continual development and improvement of every individual to the extent of his ability.

The Midland Independent School District is an educational agency of this community, established to maintain, strengthen, and improve our American way of life.

The school's program is so developed to provide each of its pupils, regardless of his ability or environment, the opportunity to develop and achieve to capacity -- mentally, physically, socially, and spiritually.

The school's efforts are so directed to the end that each individual will become an efficient member of our American democratic society, capable and desirous of making a definite and positive contribution to that society and to himself."

Another vertical line is positioned to the left of the center, intersecting the horizontal line. A third vertical line is further to the left, intersecting the horizontal line. A fourth vertical line is on the far right, intersecting the horizontal line. The lines vary in length, with some extending across the frame and others being shorter segments. "There is a way to do it better
— find it"

These challenging words of Thomas A. Edison, father of the electric light and power industry, are a constant reminder to us to seek new efficiencies that will help us serve our customers better.

Through the years, as Texas Electric Service Company has built ahead, each new generating unit, transmission line and other facility has been designed to take advantage of the advancing technology of the industry.

Texas Electric is looking to the future, constantly seeking new ways to improve electric service and make it an even bigger value.
